The Last Stop movie

Entry by donation. 2 pm start time. In 1947, a train sank in Slocan Lake. 75 years later, a diver's team, aided by a 99-year-old surviving brakeman, searches for the locomotive. Don't miss this film!

History Display

Journey through Slocan's legacy. View old documents and artifacts. Learn about our Archives and website. Lots of fascinating facts! Open in the WE Graham library from 12 - 4 pm. Free.

Talk to local historians

Local historians Dave Fredrickson and Greg Nesteroff will be on hand to answer questions and tell tales of yesteryear. Find out what projects our historical society is working on. Share your ideas and get involved.

Record your Memories

Help us preserve our past and be part of our legacy! Share your memories and stories of Slocan. Write them down or be recorded by a professional interviewer. Do you have old photos or documents to share? We'd love to make copies!

Great gifts available

Looking for that perfect gift for yourself or a loved one? We have several books on local history for sale. All proceeds benefit our efforts to preserve our shared past.
